You can access Taroona’s popular foreshore track from many streets which run down to the Derwent River. The track takes you on a gentle stroll around the coastline, along Hinsby and Taroona beaches, and amongst remnant coastal bushland. Blue gums, black gums, sheoaks and blackwoods form the canopy, with an understory of hopbush, banksias, coast wattle, saltbush and grasses. Enjoy the views south to the Alum Cliffs and the Shot Tower, and over the Derwent River to Opossum Bay and South Arm. Not so long ago, the foreshore was also a popular gathering place for the Traditional Custodians of the land, the Muwinina people. ‘Taroona’ is the Aboriginal name for chiton (kytun) – a shell animal found along the foreshore. Taroona’s coastal foreshore and the gullies leading into it are cared for by a local volunteer group, the Taroona Environment Network.

- 50 minutes return
- 4 km return
- Ample parking each end.
- Beach walk with short sections of narrow bush track around the headlands. Playground and BBQ at Taroona Beach.

Note: Dogs only permitted on the beach east of the boat ramp at Taroona Beach

This track allows walkers to reach the summit of Bonnet Hill. Bonnet Hill Reserve is a little-known pocket of idyllic dry bush land with many peppermint gums and open grass land. Once you get to the top you have a fantastic panoramic outlook allowing views from the Derwent Estuary to Kingston Beach and Kingston, as well as to Mount Wellington. Maybe you can even spot your own house!

- 30 minutes return
- 1 km return
- Limited parking at Bonnie Brae Road.
- Steep and narrow bush track.